

Combined Feature-Parity Matrix & Positioning Analysis

All 11 competitors researched to date, synthesized. Supersedes the feature matrix in the original competitive-analysis.md — that file's narrative sections (deep dives, sources) still stand; this document is the authoritative feature/positioning reference going forward.

Read: nobody in this set covers everything, but Passbook.ai, Novelty Wealth, and Mprofit are the three broadest. Our MVP is deliberately narrow (MF only) — the widest gap between "what we track at launch" and "category leader breadth" of any competitor comparison in this document, by design.

B. Data Import Mechanism

Method	MP	FL	PB.ai	KV	SB	PU	PB.fam	ION	STK	NOV	US
CAS PDF parsing	✓ (core)	~	?	✓	X	?	✓	X	X	?	✓ (built)

EPF auto-fetch	x	x	x	x	✓ (SMS-based)	x	✓	x	x	?	x

Read: five of eleven competitors now confirm production AA usage (Famli, Passbook.ai, Ionic Wealth, Stack Wealth-with-Finvu, likely Novelty Wealth) — this is no longer an emerging pattern, it's the market standard for anyone with regulatory registration. Our CAS-PDF-first approach remains the only viable path before our ARN/RIA registration lands, and we're one of very few (with Passbook Family and Kuvera) still validating that a document-upload path works well even once AA is available — worth keeping CAS parsing as a permanent fallback for asset classes AA doesn't cover, not just a bridge.

						ratings)	shown)		Score™)
Brokerage/STT/GST analysis	X	X	X	X	X	X	X	X	X	X	Explicit differentiator per Ayush's original spec

Read: this is where our stated ambition ("more advanced than Mprofit," brokerage/STT/GST analysis) is genuinely uncontested — nobody in this set does brokerage/STT/GST breakdown. Mprofit remains the deepest on core tax computation; Ionic Wealth and Passbook Family (as of v1.1.0) are the two newer entrants pushing analytics depth hardest.

D. Advisory & Intelligence

Feature	MP	FL	PB.ai	KV	SB	PU	PB.family	ION	STK	NOV	US
Personalized recommendations	X	✓	?	~	X	✓ (core)	X	✓	✓	✓	Deliberately deferred

Human advisor access	X	X	X	X	X	X	X	✓	✓	✓	X
Goal-based planning	X	✓	X	✓	X	X	X	X	✓	✓	X

Feature	MP	FL	PB.ai	KV	SB	PU	PB.fam	ION	STK	NOV	US
Rebalancing alerts	x	x	x	x	x	x	x	~	✓	?	x

Read: advisory is a regulatory fork (RIA/RA required), and the whole cluster of newer players (Famli, Ionic, Stack, Novelty) has converged on some form of it. This is the strongest argument for treating "pursue RIA deliberately" as a real Phase-2/3 decision rather than a someday-maybe — the market is visibly moving toward advice-layered tracking, not staying pure-tracker.

E. Family & Vault Features

Feature	MP	FL	PB.ai	KV	SB	PU	PB.fam	ION	STK	NOV	US
Multi-member family accounts	✓	✓ (core)	?	✓	✓ (core)	x	✓ (core)	x	?	✓ (core)	Post-MVP ("1 login, 1 family, 5 members")
Coordinated family goals	x	✓	x	x	x	x	x	x	x	✓	Post-MVP
Document/pass word vault	x	Coming soon	~	x	✓ (core)	x	✓ (core)	x	x	x	Not currently planned
Emergency-access notes	x	x	x	x	✓	x	✓ (explicit)	x	x	x	Not currently planned

Read: "family" is claimed by 7 of 11 competitors but implemented with real depth by only three (Famli, Safebox, Passbook Family) and now a fourth (Novelty Wealth, via coordinated goals). The vault/emergency-access pattern (Safebox, Passbook Family) is a genuinely distinct product category from portfolio tracking — worth a conscious "not now" rather than silently ignoring it, since it keeps recurring across competitors.

F. Trust, Regulation & Architecture

Attribute	MP	FL	PB.ai	KV	SB	PU	PB.family	ION	STK	NOV	US
Regulatory status	None (MVerst partner)	SEBI RIA	AMFI MFD	SEBI RIA	SEBI RIA	SEBI RIA	None found	AMFI MFD + SEBI RA	AMFI MFD + SEBI RIA	SEBI RIA	ARN in progress

"Read-only access" trust framing	✗ (not emphasized)	?	?	?	?	?	N/A (no server access at all)	✓ (explicit)	✓ (explicit)	✓ (explicit)	Should adopt

Read: Passbook Family is the sole architectural outlier — everyone else, including us, is building cloud-first. "Read-only, cannot move money, revoke anytime" has become the standard trust copy across every AA-based competitor; we should adopt this language pattern verbatim once our own import flow is live, regardless of which import mechanism (CAS or AA) is active at the time.

G. Monetization & Platform

H. Calculator/Tool Inventory (consolidated across all competitors)

Full list seen anywhere in this competitive set, for backlog planning: SIP, SWP, Lumpsum, Step-Up SIP, Goal SIP, XIRR, CAGR, Present Value, EMI, Retirement, PPF, EPF, Fixed Deposit (generic + bank-specific: HDFC/SBI/ICICI/BoB/BoI/PNB/Yes Bank), Recurring Deposit (generic + bank-specific), FIRE number, Buy vs. Rent, USD/dollar exposure, HRA, Tax regime comparison, Portfolio overlap.

Read: Stack Wealth's bank-specific FD/RD calculators and Novelty Wealth's HRA/tax-regime calculators are the two sets of genuinely novel additions beyond the generic SIP/XIRR/retirement cluster everyone has.

Synthesis — Where This Leaves Our MVP Scope

1. MF-only, free, self-serve tracking with CAS-parsing-first import is not contested by anyone currently in the sparse "free + self-serve" cell of Quadrant 2 — this remains the cleanest opening across all four maps.
2. Brokerage/STT/GST analysis remains genuinely uncontested across all eleven competitors — the single most defensible "more advanced than Mprofit" claim in the current roadmap.
3. Advisory is now a majority pattern (6 of 10 real competitors have some form of it) — worth treating the RIA-registration decision as increasingly time-sensitive rather than purely optional, even though it stays out of the MF-only MVP.
4. Family depth and document/emergency vault features recur constantly (7+ competitors) but are rarely done deeply — both are legitimate Phase 2/3 backlog items, not urgent for MVP.
5. The calculator backlog should draw from Stack Wealth (bank-specific FD/RD, SEO play) and Novelty Wealth (HRA, tax regime) in addition to the original Finology-inspired set.

This document is the reference for the upcoming feature-parity conversation with engineering — happy to turn any single quadrant or matrix section into a dedicated PRD input once you're ready to scope specific features.

The single sharpest finding is in Quadrant 2 (import sophistication × access model), not Quadrant 1. The original "breadth + advice" whitespace is now contested — Novelty Wealth, Ionic Wealth, and Stack Wealth all reach into it. But when I cut the data a different way — free/self-serve vs. advisory-gated, crossed with document-first vs. API-native import — the "free AND moving toward AA-native" cell is nearly empty. That's a sharper, more defensible opening than the original quadrant gave us, and it's exactly the shape of what you're already building.

Brokerage/STT/GST analysis is still completely uncontested across all eleven competitors — worth treating as the flagship "more advanced than Mprofit" claim rather than one bullet among many.

Advisory has quietly become a majority pattern — 6 of the 10 real competitors have some form of it now (up from roughly 3 in the original analysis). That's a signal the RIA-registration decision deserves more urgency as a live conversation, even though it correctly stays out of the MF-only MVP scope.

One honest limitation: NGEN Markets, PowerUp Money, and a couple of the earlier-batch competitors have thinner data than the four newest deep dives (Ionic/Stack/Novelty/Passbook Family), since those got full page-by-page research passes and the earlier ones got a single research sweep each. If you want parity of depth before this goes in front of engineering or investors, I can run a second, deeper pass on Mprofit, Famli, Kuvera, Safebox, and PowerUp Money using the same page-by-page approach — your call on whether that's worth the time right now versus moving into the MF roadmap work you'd flagged as next.
